To whom it may be concerned:

Devin Henderson delivered a grand slam at our national convention this year. His entertaining style and message were pure magic!

Devin's key note address to the National Auctioneers Association, Networking to Grow Your Business: the Magic of Making Connections, was enthusiastically received by our members. Six months have passed, and they still rave about Devin. His combination of magic, humor, and wisdom won the day and was the hit of the conference.

If you want to knock the socks off your conference attendees, you will be amazed at how easy Devin is to work with. His study of our industry, in order to customize his presentation, was wonderful. His topic was spot on and his message continues to reverberate among our members. He is, simply put, delightful.

Devin made our convention so incredibly memorable. He lit up the room...pure magic!

Sincerely,
